Introducing innovative new computer related products is the cornerstone of success

"Introducing innovative new products is the cornerstone of our success," says Kevin Hunt Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing for Information Support Concepts, Inc. located in Arlington Texas. ISC is a supplier of a wide variety of computer related furniture and peripherals that accommodate the needs of the IT, network and telecom professional.

One of the newest introductions is the small low profile server rack featured on their web-site, www.iscdfw.com, along with other new items such as rack mount key board monitors and power relay rack.

Information Support Concepts recently added a showroom to the Arlington office located at 714 N. Watson, Road, Suite 302, Arlington, Texas 76011. This new addition enables ISC to accommodate those clients that choose to preview some of the larger furniture and space saving items.

Since it's founding in 1987 ISC has worked diligently to fill the need for products that provide solutions for the IT, network and telecom professional in the ever changing computer environment. Information Support Concepts has been highly successful in supporting clients through a combination of traditional marketing techniques in conjunction with the internet. Today, ready access to ISC's core products is available over the internet. A customer can view product specifications, contact a consultant for more detailed information or clarification on application and, order the product for next day shipment in most cases.
