JACK'S BACK! JACK BURLIN RETURNS TO ISC AS PRODUCT MANAGER

After two and a half years, Jack Burlin has returned to Information Support Concepts, Inc. as Product Manager with his major responsibilities being in research and analysis as well as customer relations. He will also be monitoring product quality control, overseeing special bid projects and is initiating an ISC on-line newsletter.

Jack first joined ISC in 1998 as an Account Manager. In his time away from ISC, Jack was Director of Customer Relations with Conway Consulting.

Mr. Burlin's eclectic background includes a BA in Physics, and MBA in Marketing as well as having been a T-38 Instructor, an A-7 Pilot and an Operations Staff Officer in the United States Air Force. After being Honorably Discharged from the USAF, Jack worked as Marketing Manager for Lear Siegler, Int. in Stamford, CT and for General Dynamics in Fort Worth, TX. He is also the author of a book entitled "WHEN IS A TOILET LIKE A SALT SHAKER?"

ISC, a company that specializes in providing support for computer professionals has over 2000 catalogued items on-line and celebrates Jack Burlin's return. ISC and its customers will greatly benefit from Jack's extensive experience.
